

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A recording medium which records a file for storing writing data as well as file management information for managing the file, wherein main file management information stores, in a file format, sub
5 file management information and sub-file related information. In addition, a recording apparatus in which data is written into the recording medium and a recording medium in which data is reproduced from the 10 recording medium are also disclosed.